Calling all early career professionals and students! The Students and Early Career Professional Committee is hosting an event at the conference this year for attendees who are at the start of their careers and want an opportunity to network, share ideas, commiserate, or meet new people! We will go together after the reception to Mory's (306 York Street), the famed faculty and graduate student club at Yale University, for cocktails at 6:45 and then dinner from 7:00-9:00 p.m. This is a quick 10 minute walk through Yale Old Campus from the Omni Hotel. Please reference the Mory's website for directions and to check out the history of the joint: www.morys1849.org. This event will include a chance to chat with Al Powers PhD, MD, Assistant Professor at the Yale University Department of Psychiatry and Medical Director of the PRIME Psychosis Research Clinic at Yale, regarding career development. The staff at Mory's will be providing each attendee with a personal tab as we will regretfully not be able to cover the costs of everyone's dining experience. Please do not hesitate to contact Halle Thurnauer at halle.thurnauer@gmail.com should you have any questions. We hope you can join us and look forward to meeting you!
